DANGEROUS DAN
Wax On Records (UK), WAX0205
Chirpy funkadelia pre-empt's Dan Goldman's 'Zeros And Ones' album, the Jazz Doctor's solo effort which follows on from his keyboard playing for Morcheeba, and an involvement in current hot tickets Corinne Bailey Rae and The Music. As you'd expect from a release on George Evelyn's splendidly named Wax On label, the record is loaded with lashings of vintage keys, an irresistible draw for those who like it fuzzy. KM

Leeds Guide Feb 2006:

If we stay with Leeds, then we can sample the electronic funk/jazz of former Morcheeba keyboardist Jazzdoctor73, and his rather classy little single 'Happy People' (Wax On).

Fat City Review Feb 2006:-

"JD73 heads our chart at this festive time, with a great nu funk track on the 'Wax On' label run by DJ E.A.S.E (Nightmares On Wax), it is not available until the New year anywhere else, so get your hands on this upfront 10inch. This week's featured release: JD73: Happy People 12 = £5.49
UK Wax On WAX0205

This is the second release from the Wax On label, headed by DJ E.A.S.E, drops a great nu school funk track
JD73 is the brainchild of Leeds based musician Dan Goldman. These Tracks were born when Dan was on the road as the keyboardist for Morcheeba and here Dan has created an electronic Jazz/funk sound similar to the work of Herbie Hancock and Bob James, combined with the sort of slamming beats you need for the dance floor. This is a quality 1 sided 10-inch release for Wax On records."

JD 73:

'Happy People'

(Wax On Records) UK

Nice little one sided 10" from ex-Morcheeba keyboard player Dan Goldman. Big fat midtempo hip hop beats over a cheerful (if a little repetitive) keyboard riff conjuring the spirit of Bob James and Herbie Hancock from the seventies. Nice little dancefloor warmer.

Griff

Please note JD73 (aka Dan Goldman) is still the Morcheeba keyboard player and is co-writing the next album with the famous Godfrey bros.

SINGLE REVIEW: JD73 - Happy People (Wax On Records)

Of course, I really, really meant to write a review for this single much earlier, partly because it was released yesterday, and I am, therefore, technically, late in publishing it, but also because I really love this track and want to urge you all to listen to it. JD73 is busy Morcheeba keyboardist Dan Goldman, dubbed the Jazz Doctor by the band's Ross Godfrey, and the sobriquet seems entirely appropriate to me, given that he's certainly made me feel better in recent weeks. No really. He has. Christmas was over and I knew I'd still got January, February and March to endure when the CD bearing 'Happy People' arrived, and it's one of those tracks that has the capacity to put a smile on your face whatever the weather. It continues to brighten up my winter with its mix of jazzy, funky electronica that oozes so much seventies it's wearing serious platforms, whilst not detracting from its ultimately very contemporary sound. It's absurdly infectious, guaranteed to have you nodding your head along in time with the beat; like I said, just what you need when it's raining outside. There's an album, 'Zeros and Ones', coming out soon, so keep an eye out for it. In the meantime, get your hands on the single, it's an order. CM
